Kathleen Jackson was appointed to the Texas Water Development Board by Gov. Rick Perry in 2014, and reappointed by Gov. Greg Abbot in 2017.

Jackson has a diverse background representing agricultural, environmental, industrial, and wholesale-supply interests, which includes developing and implementing water management strategies for Southeast Texas. As a registered Professional Engineer, she served as public affairs manager for one of the world's largest petroleum and petrochemical producers. In addition, she was involved in production agriculture with her late husband, who ran a cattle operation and farmed rice.

Jackson has a Bachelors Degree in Chemical Engineering from the North Carolina State University. She has three children and three grandchildren, and is a long-time resident of Beaumont.
